

QUESTION

Researchers who are interested in studying sleep should use the most reliable and valid instruments, and have been tailored to your population when possible. Sleep is an important part of daily life, and brushing your teeth is a daily habit. What sleep assessment tools are actually in use? Sleep duration can vary, and sleep quality can be affected by many factors. Sleep assessment tools have been tailored to your population when possible.